

STORY MONSTERS LLC®

A place to tell your story

Linda F. Radke

President of Story Monsters LLC and Publisher of Story Monsters Ink magazine

1. How long have you been involved in publishing and marketing books and magazines?
2. You've been in publishing a long time. When and how did you get your start?
3. What brought about Story Monsters LLC?
4. What prompted you to get into publishing Story Monsters Ink?

5. Tell me about the team behind Story Monsters Ink.
6. Who is your target audience for the magazine? Is the content driven by the needs of your target audience?

7. How do you decide what to feature in each issue and how has this evolved since you first started?
8. How do you reach out to libraries, publishers and parents with Story Monsters Ink?
9. Tell us about any awards the magazine has won.
10. Tell us about your Kids Can Publish program.
11. What has been the most successful and rewarding aspect of being a publisher?
12. How are you helping authors and artists connect with schools?
13. Do you have any advice to give to authors who seek to feature their books in future issues of Story Monsters Ink?
14. Since you've been in publishing since 1985, what advice do you have for authors who are considering self-publishing?
15. How and when was your mascot, the cute little Story Monster, created?
16. Does Story Monster do school and library visits?
17. Please tell us about the Story Monsters Approved! book designation program.
18. You also have the Purple Dragonfly Book Awards and Royal Dragonfly Book Awards contests. Please tell us about each contest.

19. Tell us about your #CaughtReading program.

20. What is the best way for folks to reach you?